"THERE IS NO AGE LIMIT
on mental work," says
Henry Ford, who has passed 65.
He says men past 65 should not do too much running and jumping, but can do as much mental work as ever and better work.

Ma's mysterious thinking power does not wear out, but the physical machine in which it works does wear out. Henry Ford would not keep any chauffeur that treated a machine as he treats the machine named Henry Ford.

On Saturday last Henry Ford left Binghamton, N. Y., to the morning and drove a small Ford car steadily all day to his home in Dearborn, beyond Detroit, more than 400 miles, reaching there the same night.

That is a crime against the Ford company, and if Henry Ford did not own all the stock other stockholders would complain. Four hundred miles in one day in a small car means thousands of unconscious efforts of the brain, eyes and nerves, constantly on the alert. It means waste.

Henry Ford should remember that it is easy to get a new Ford when the old one wears out, but impossible to get a new Henry Ford.

Each of three boy scouts that went to Africa with Mr. and Mrs.
Martin Johnston, shot a magnificent lion and saw 104 lions in all.
Wonderful excitement for three 15-year-old scouts. But the lion, with all his power, is a timid creature.

The little bushmen, one of the lowest of human beings, too feeble to hunt big game on their own account, tracks and tracks the lion, while the latter is hunting. This lion kills a hare or other animal, then the little bushman comes away the king of beasts, then forces himself on the lion's kill. The bushmen, the coward of humans, can think a little. That beats the lion.

Roman coins, dug up after 2000 years, are worth in silver and gold only what they were when buried.

True there is the importance of keeping your money earning interest. A silver penny, like the one mentioned in the Bible, put out at interest, compounded annually for only 500 years, would amount to $1,700,000,000,000.
That's more money than there is in the world.

Britain's coal mining problem resembles ours, but is more acute. The coal industry is more important to Britain than to us.
Twenty-one thousand miners,
as a start, will be taught farming, then Britain will send them to Canada.

For two years the men get wages that will support them, and let them save $500. The home government will add $500.
Canada will be expected to do the same to establish the men on free or low-priced land. That seems intelligent.

Jose de Leon Toral murdered Oregon, according to Mexican police, to free the Mexican Catholic Church from persecution.
Yesterday the police of Mexico
City arrested 17 nuns, including Sister Concepcion Acedera de la Lata.

Police allege that Toral conceived the idea of assassinating Oregon in the convent at which Sister Concepcion Acedera superior.
It is, however, well known in Mexico and elsewhere that the assassination of Oregon is the most, thing that could have happened, so far as the interests of the Mexican Catholic Church are concerned.
The religious war in Mexico is evidently far from an end.

It was suggested here yesterday that some little lamb were running because they feared 7 or 8 per cent money. They got both yesterday. Money advanced in 6 went to 6 1/2, 7 1/2 and then 8.
The unexpected happened, and it usually does in Wall Street.
Stocks went up.
A decent respect for the laws of usury must put some limit on interest charges, and it is hard to see how the law can be evaded.

G. O. P. SEEKS $4,000,000 FUND

CALLS ISSUED BY WORK

Washington, Aug. 1 (AP)—A Republican campaign fund of $4,000,000 was called for today by Chairman
Work of the national committee.
The figure was fixed at a conference of party leaders here, including
J. R. Nutt, committee treasurer,
Joseph M. Egan, Eastern treasurer, Franklin W. Ford, committee secretary, and Herbert L. Gutterman, executive secretary.
Active solicitation of funds will begin very soon, Mr. Nutt said.
He reported many contributions, large and small, are coming into the Republican till from all sections of the country.
The 1924 campaign of the party has been estimated to have cost a little more than $3,000,000.
Dismissing the increased fund,
Chairman Work merely remarked that there were 12,000,000 more voters this year than four years ago and that the increase in postage alone would require a considerable amount.
Mr. Nutt said: "We won't accept any contribution for a half million dollars, and I don't think we would accept one for $10,000 if we got it.
We are not setting a limit but of course we are going to use discretion."

EXPLORER FEEDING MASCOT AS RESCUER HEARS HIS HARROWING STORY
When Nobile was saved and brought out of the Arctic's jaws of death, on June 23, this photo was made at Hinlopen straits. It shows Nobile feeding his dog, while he himself chews a bit of beefsteak and sign whiskey. Lundberg, his rescuer, who later crashed in attempting other rescues, sits beside him listening to his story.

NEW BEDFORD RIOTERS FACING DEPORTATION

New Bedford, Aug. 1.—Immendation as undesirable aliens today faced hundreds of New Bedford mill workers who have participated in the recent disorders and rioting in connection with the strike of 27-000 mill operatives.
This drastic move is being discussed today at a conference of agents of the Department of Justice and officials of the United States Department of Labor.
If the local federal authorities decide that the situation is serious enough to justify such a drastic step, the entire matter will be placed before the authorities in Washington, with recommendation

GIRL LEADS AUTO GANG IN HIGHWAY ROBBERY AT SPOT IN BLUE HILLS

Bulletin—One man and a blonde girl, charged with robbing Peter McGinnis, 24, Brockton shoe worker, at a lonely spot in the Blue Hills, were arrested by Metropolitan and Hyde Park police today. They gave their names as Rita Kosleien, Hyde Park, and John Francis Coakley, Canterbury st., Boston.

A blonde-haired girl of 20, attired in white sport togs, was the leader of a new species of automobile bandit gang that, early today, robbed Peter McGinnis, 24, Brockton shoe worker, at a lonely spot in the Blue Hills.

The gang offered McGinnis a ride to Brockton, but when he reached a thickly wooded spot near the Neponset road, they ordered him from the machine at the point of a revolver and relieved him of his money, watch, hat and coat.

HOUSER WINS OLYMPIC DISCUS; CARR VAULT

By HENRY R. FLOREY,

Olympic Stadium, Amsterdam, Aug.
1.—Bud Houser and Sabu Carr came to the rescue of America's fading discus and vault track and field stars when they won the discus throw and primary in, respectively, in the Olympic games in progress here.
Houser's winning toss in the discus, 125 feet 2 1/2 inches, coming on his third effort in the preliminary round, when he was about to be eliminated, established a new Olympic record for the event. His victory left him in possession of the title he won at the 1924 games in Paris.
American disasters continued to pile up in the running events, however. Their sponsors failed to win the 200-meter dash and their hard-core could do no better than second, third and fourth in the 150-meter hurdles, both of them having been America's favorite events in other Olympics.

Lacoma, N. H., Aug. 1 (AP)—Kathleen M. Hogg, 12-nipesaukee.

She had been staying with her mother at a camp on Bear Island.

WOMAN BURNS SELF TO DEATH FOR LOST LOVE

New York, Aug. 1 (AP)—Apparently disappointed in love, Miss Louise Amelia de Hostos, 28 years old, set herself alive in her Upper West Side apartment and died at Harlem Hospital today.
Miss de Hostos, said by a friend to be the daughter of Eugenia de Hostos, a Puerto Rican educator, died in New York to seek a career as an author.
She was unconscious when found on the apartment floor, but later at hospital said she had saturated her clothing with turpentine and then, after climbing into the bathtub had applied a match.
Although she refused to discuss with a detective the cause of her tragic end, she told him she had read a letter addressed to the "Chief of Police of New York." It read:
"As there is no punishment for a man who takes a lady's name and disfigures it with all kinds of lies in a snaky way, never giving any clue for his identification, as the victim has not even that means of defending herself, I have decided that he may answer before God for this taking of my life."

All Italy Today Lionizes Men

'Little Dempseys,' Jack's Best Wish

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

HANDSOME Jack Dempsey wants to be a perfect husband. He will NOT fight again—except on the stage!

Estelle ought to be pleased. She ought to be tickled, for Jack wants nothing more than to be her adoring husband and the father of a nice family.

And it won't be long, he said. In a few years, he added.

And then there'll be the kiddies, the smiling jacket, the "love nest," Estelle and himself, and future champions—little Dempseys!

This Minnesota Mauler sure does fire the imagination with his dreamy reveries. But as for fighting—

Nothing doing for the pug at present, he said. He is busy with many other activities, particularly the production of his new book, "The Fight of My Life," which is now being published.

Was Jack ashamed to admit he wanted to be a good husband? That marriage is a pretty game and that the husband has his part to play? That the success of his marriage was because of Estelle's perfect understanding of him?

He was just not to get the chance to show the commentators on the life of his heart. Estelle told him to do as I please. She even let me buy my own clothes.

JACK TELLS WHAT HE WANTS

Jack Dempsey at the Copley-Plaza told Ruth Mugglebee, Boston Evening American reporter, he wanted to be a champion husband instead of a champion of the ring, and hoped for a home full of little Dempseys. "There's nothing so great as being a good husband," he said, "and Estelle, why she even lets me buy my own clothes."

MUSSOLINI TO PROBE NOBILE EXPEDITION

Rome, Aug. 1 (AP)—Gen. Umberto Nobile, leader of the expedition, and the other army and navy officers who were members of the crew of the dirigible Italia, will make detailed reports of their experiences in the Arctic disaster to their immediate superiors. These in turn will be submitted to Premier Mussolini.

The premier announced today that by this means he would make an investigation of the entire expedition.

It will develop upon Capt. Filippo Zerbini, one of the navigators of the Italia, to report upon the experience of the "walking party."

It was with this party that Dr. Finn Malmgren, Swedish scientist, met death and that Capt. Alberto Maritano, pilot of the dirigible, suffered frostbites which resulted in an amputation that still holds him in a hospital in Norway.

Meanwhile Gen. Nobile and his companions refuse to make any statement. They have asked that the information be spread that any direct or indirect report attributed to them must be considered as without foundation.

The survivors who returned to Italy yesterday, including Nobile, Vigliani, Zerbini, Giuseppe Biagi, radio operator, Filippo Tricorno, engineer, and Natale Cecconi, motor chief, reported in sending a message to Arnaldo Mussolini, brother of the premier and editor of Popolo d'Italia at Milan.

Those found guilty of digging camps in violation of the order of the State Board of Health were: Tony DeVito, $25; Anthony Conio, $25; Eric Erickson, $20; Nik Semak, $20; and Joseph Tedy, $10. The juvenile was Parquise Delio.

Curtis Field, N. It was announced by Harry Rogers, president of the Rogers-Air Lines, Inc.

Rogers, Woodward and Edward Robin, a mechanic, are en route to England today on the Aquitania with the plane. Rogers said it probably would be used in an attempt to fly across the Atlantic from east to west.

SEEK APPOINTMENT OF KLEIN TO HOOVER'S JOB

Washington, Aug. 1 (INS)—To keep the Department of Commerce "out of politics" business men have started a campaign for the appointment of Dr. Julius Klein, director of foreign and domestic commerce, as a successor to Herbert Hoover. It is said there are grounds for the belief that President Coolidge has been impressed by those who hope to keep the Commerce Department's "business bureau." Klein has been one of Hoover's chief economic advisers the last eight years.

AIR CRASH VICTIMS UNLIKELY TO RECOVER

Slight chances for the recovery of the pilot and two passengers in the Old Colony Airways plane which crashed at Beverly last Sunday were held by physicians at the hospital where they are under treatment, following a sudden turn for the worse in the condition of the three men.

At the Chelsea Memorial Hospital are Edward Dustin, 18, of New London, N. H., and Wilbur Emerson, 23, of Portsmouth, N. H. Both were passengers in the plane and their skulls were fractured. Wincent Harlow, pilot of the plane, is at the Chelsea Hospital with a fractured spine.

Iowa City, Ia., Aug. 1 (INS)—An innocent farmer boy probably has discovered what becomes of the money that colicists follow. At any rate, young Leo Karpark has found one horse which pays dividends. On the farm of his father, J. F. Karpark, near here, while exploring a bump on the horse's back, the son felt a hard object, and opened the growth to find a dime imbedded in the tissue.

The weatherman's early forecast for showers tonight remained unchanged after his arrival of atmospheric conditions likely to envelop Boston during the next 24 hours.

In her quest for the Republican nomination, Mrs. MacFadden was ready for Republican signers at 7 a. m. and through the three-hour morning period, received many friends who called to her support.

With another three-hour period daily from 4 to 7 p. m. the candidate will continue an intensive drive for signatures before presenting herself to Republican State headquarters.

Mrs. MacFadden's platform includes a revision of taxes on real estate and abolition of the age-old policy of allowing exemption to fire-

Couple Return Home to Find Stranger Occupying Bed

Southbridge, Aug. 1—Robert Maxwell, 35, of New York was arraigned in the local court today on charges of breaking, entering, and vagrancy. His arrest resulted from a discovery made by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Holmes of Charlton St., when they came home after a vacation trip. Through a window they saw Maxwell asleep on their bed. They had him arrested.

"After securing signatures, I will campaign the State," she said today.

McGinnis was asking a ride when the car containing the girl and two male companions pulled up beside him. One of the men asked the girl to get out of the car and McGinnis offered to pilot the party there.

Before the car started again one of the men relieved the girl at the wheel. The men about 27 years of age, wore sport trousers, sweaters and no hats.

Hail Girls as Martyrs

Facing Jail in Strike

Girls, among the 250 prisoners who faced jail sentences after being arrested in the New Bedford strike, were hailed as martyrs by throngs on the way to court. When they arrived at the court, in the police van, the girls were smiling, or looking determined to suffer, if need be, according to their sympathizers. 17 FLEE BIG FINE JAIL THREATS HERD 'EM IN Twenty-seven men charged with participating in a "vex" game near the Fish Pier waited in the corridor of South Boston court for their names to be called today. "Bring in 10 of the gambling defendants," ordered Judge Logan. Ten entered and, expecting the usual $1 or $10 fine, pleaded guilty. "Twenty-five dollars each," said Judge Logan. Several defendants grasped the dock railing to keep from falling. Then each discovered the amount of fine and paid. "Bring in the rest," ordered the judge. Court officers went into the corridors, calling names. In a few minutes they returned. "They've all gone. Your Honor," they reported. Word of the large fine had reached the corridors and the rest of the defendants preferred to forfeit their law suit. "Very well," said Judge Logan. "Let the word go forth that all of the remaining 17 not in court tomorrow morning will be sent to jail." The word went forth. Ten who were later all of the missing defendants lined up in court and paid their $25 fines. Which made $775 for the lot.

SMALL CITIES TO SEE N. Y. STARS IN VOCAFILM

New York, Aug. 1 (INS)—Broadway shows for the smaller cities and towns of the country, with the original casts, is the latest plan of theatrical producers. In the flesh and blood. Hardly it's to be by the talking motion picture and virtually will mean the end of the theatrical touring companies. Plans practically completed by A. H. Woods, the Shuberts, William A. Brady and Arthur Hammerstein will continue the activities of the stars of the theatrical world to show live New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston and Detroit, but a reproduction of their performances by the "talkies" will be available to cities, large and small everywhere. The producers mentioned have obtained control of the Vocafilm Corporation of America with offices and studios in New York, and are expected to begin making mechanical reproductions in about six weeks, using the original cast. The early Woods production of "The Seven Years' War," with Fay Hunter and Glenn Hunter as its stars is expected to be one of the first plays presented. Others to follow in rapid order include "Fast Life," "A Man With Red Hair," an English play and a production in which Florence Reed will star. Several Shubert musical shows will follow in an effort to build up extensive touring. The smaller cities so that theatrical owners will be induced to install the vocafilm process, which is said to cost only about $100 and is much cheaper than other similar processes.

STRANGE COMA OF GIRL STILL UNBROKEN

Westfield, Aug. 1.—While in the psychic power of familiar sounds, Miss Helen Buschmann, who has lain in a coma for nearly seven months following an automobile accident, dreamed, as the doctor estimated her last chatter on the fourth day since she was brought back here to her girlhood home.

The young college student's condition is apparently unchanged, though the mother has little amount of health. She is now unconscious and the long it was started in the strong arms of her mother from the ambulance, which brought the patient and her nurse from the train to her home.

Miss Buschmann was removed to her home in Westfield after her 200 days in a coma in a Plainville hospital, where portions of her fractured skull were removed in an effort to restore arrested brain function.

Her mother, Mrs. John Buschmann, has never left her side. "Mother is now sleeping, utterly exhausted from her long vigil," the brother, Russell, explained. "You know how mothers are—they hope on. We did not see her for a week or even in my sister. She does not respond to familiar sounds or the home environment, from which she was removed before she was brought here. The doctors hoped for a miracle, but she has not responded."

She was captured yesterday. He had terrorized the territories through which he fled by kidnapping several women. He chose to face probable death penalty in Vermont rather than possible 20 years in Connecticut.

Waiting, hoping, waiting—that is the routine to which the girl's mother has settled down in the quiet home on Pleasant street, where her beautiful young daughter does not stir from her bed.

The girl has been placed in the same upper room in her home which was decorated, while a student at Smith College, in Plainville, Ohio, after the car crash. The accident occurred January 17.

"Her condition is as delicate that it would be very unfair to predict what may develop at this time," her father said. "After she has rested from the long brain trip, which she stood very well indeed, she shall receive the best treatment, perhaps, in one word, I can tell better how to proceed."

Doctors have been barred, until local physicians decide on their future course, in one of the strangest cases in medical history.

"Ape Man"

WALLACE GARRY

Pursued over three States after sensational escape from three jails, Wallace Garry was captured yesterday. He had terrorized the territories through which he fled by kidnapping several women. He chose to face probable death penalty in Vermont rather than possible 20 years in Connecticut.

'APE MAN' WILL BE TRIED TODAY

Attest, Aug. 1.—Wallace Garry, 25, known as the "ape man" and the "gorilla," was scheduled to be arraigned today on a charge which may mean a 20-year term in Connecticut State Prison. Yet the youth said he preferred not to be turned over to authorities. From Vermont, where he feared he would be sentenced to the imprisonment, Garry is accused of having abducted four women, and of having broken out of two jails.

He was captured in a shack near here after he had been taken to the Massachusetts and Connecticut authorities across three States.

When told that Vermont officials wanted him for kidnapping attacks on women in that State, Garry begged the Connecticut men to let him in that State.

"Garry said, 'I need an extradition papers for me.'"

His flight from Vermont, near the Canadian border, was spectacular. He terrified women with a pistol and threatened to kill them, but yesterday when he opened the door of a shack on the outskirts of town where he had taken refuge, with a woman captive, and saw that he was being surrounded.

Despite his age, his crime career is a long one and within three weeks he has indicated four women and broken out of two jails. In addition to stealing an automobile, he has had a wife and several children, but deserted them months ago.

SMALL KITTEN RESCUED FROM DRAIN PIPE

No North Pole relief expedition ever expended more energy at rescue than did three agents of the Massachusetts Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals in rescuing a small kitten that for three days was imprisoned in a drain pipe, two feet below the surface of the sidewalk at 22 Sterling st., Roxbury.

The terror-stricken mouse of the imprisoned kitten could be plainly seen by passersby, but for three days the source of the noise could not be located. Finally the agents of the society, armed with picks and shovels, tore up the sidewalk and for two hours they dug a trench along the drain pipe until the cat was finally located. Then the pipe was broken and the fainted cat released.

POISON PLOT CHARGED BY LOEWENSTEIN'S FAMILY

Paris, Aug. 1.—Believing that Alfred Loewenstein, wealthy Belgian financier who recently was killed in a fall from his airplane over the English Channel, might have been poisoned, the family of the dead man has accused the nation to file a suit charging an unnamed person with poisoning Loewenstein in the event traces of poison are found in the body.

$50,000,000 A YEAR HANDLED BY POOLS

New York, Aug. 1.—The Imperial bursell pool operated from Boston is one of the pools and other gambling activities, that have been reported to the United States District Attorney's office here, as a result of the activities in the prosecution of the leaders of the Albany pool. According to Assistant U. S. Attorney Thomas F. Cooke, the baseball and other pools that handle $50,000,000 and of this amount more than half finds its way into the pockets of the promoters.

The largest of the pools that have been mentioned, according to Mr. Cooke, is the "Great Eastern Pool" operated by the "Big State Republic." This pool is operated from Syracuse and amounts that weekly prizes of $107,000 are given away.

ARREST BROKER ON EMBEZZLEMENT CHARGE

Sandusky, N. Y., Aug. 1.—Roger W. Watkins, 30, broker of West Hartford, Ct., was jailed in the city jail here a short time after he had been arrested at Lorain, O., on a charge of embezzlement.

John Taylor, Sandusky detective, who assisted in the arrest, said that Watkins was wanted at West Hartford for the embezzlement of funds of the Sandusky National Bank, but he would give no further details of the case.

Watkins was trained in Lorain by Detective Taylor and a secret service operative from West Hartford.

VERMONT CHILD, 4, IS KILLED BY FALLING TREE

Newport, Vt., Aug. 1.—Ruth Eaton, four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Eaton, was struck by a falling tree and instantly killed while at play with companions on a beach at Indian Point on Lake Memphremagog.

The tree, a large pine, stood on the edge of a 40-foot bluff. The soil there is very sandy and it is believed that the roots of the tree were loosened by the torrential rainstorm Saturday. The tree slid only a few feet and then fell with terrific force.

Can a Girl Have Too Much Feminine Appeal?

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Nancy Deane, golden-haired, dark-eyed, who has lived her 18 years with David and Margaret O'Day, foster parents in Worcester, learns she is the granddaughter of the wealthy and aristocratic Montgomery Deanes in Boston, who disbarred her father and do not even know of her existence. Through John Blair, a young man she has learned to admire, she secures a letter to Howard Westcott, manager of a Boston mill. She meets Ginger Varden, a style model, who takes her to her Boston boarding house and introduces her to her friends. One of these, Vic Fleming, makes love to her and asks her to marry him. In the mill, Westcott, attracted by her beauty, offers her a place in the office. She is naively delighted, but both Ginger and Vic denounce Westcott.

The same evening while Vic, Jerry Durant, Ginger and Nancy are dining and dancing at the Pheasant, Westcott comes in. Vic picks a quarrel and they have a rough and tumble fight and are arrested.

The papers are full of the episode; Ginger hails it as good publicity and insists on getting Nancy a job at modelling with Zeigebaum, her employer. Mrs. O'Day is in alarm at the paper's account of the fight telephones to Boston. Nancy reassures her.

When Westcott sees Nancy the next morning he acts as though nothing had happened, takes her to lunch to the country, shows jealousy of Vic Fleming and kisses Nancy. She laughs at him and he is greatly astonished.

Now Go on With the Story

CHAPTER 15

"The dining room of 'The Chalet' was just what Nancy expected, but it was some moments before her eyes became sufficiently accustomed to the soft light to distinguish its real charm.

The room was nearly empty, and though there were only a few diners, Westcott had secured a table in the further corner of the room, out of earshot of everybody.

"I want to hear all about you," he said while they were waiting for the first course.

"But, on second thought, before you tell me, I want to know how long you have known Victor Fleming, and just what he is to you?"

"There was no 'he' you please," said Nancy. "I don't know him."

"As though he were in the habit of getting what he wanted simply by the asking, yet there was nothing objectionable in the way he said it. Had anyone else asked you to hear the story of your life, and 'I want to know how long you have known Victor Fleming,' Nancy would have given a ready reply. She would have told what she chose to tell, not what she was asked.

Now as she sat across the table from Westcott, his black eyes seeming to look right through her as though he could read her heart, she felt it would be useless to tell a falsehood.

For the first time since she had learned of her real parents, Nancy had a desire to tell someone of her true self and her history. Howard Westcott was the first person, outside of John Blair, who she felt might understand her position, who might see things, who might make her sorry she had revealed herself. Yet Howard Westcott had been told, was a pillarer, a newspaperer, a man of many guises and one burning to make her confessions.

Nancy looked at him, wondering if he could read in his face any of the things she had never told, could explain why Ginger had said 'I don't know him' on hearing of her work in his office. All that she could see were two unsmiling black eyes—that he was looking over the table toward her. And she knew that she was looking at clouds that were as giddy, that she was captive to a power that she had never felt before.

"I don't care if he's Don Juan himself, he's the handsomest thing I ever have looked at. I don't care if he's thought, hard as she tried to drown it.

"Mr. Westcott," she began, "is this business? Is it customary for a girl who has just come to work in your office to tell you her life story the very first day? Is it usual, some etiquette to explain her friends and to tell where she met them, how long she has known them?"

"Business is bargained," he answered, "business and I am compatible when we're in the office together, and I'm not in an office now. I'm interested in you, I'm frank to say it. You look like a girl I've never seen before, with your gold hair, and your dark eyes, they're sort of gold, too, at times, aren't they?"

"Mr. Westcott," she began, "Don't call me 'Miss Westcott.' Call me Nancy, and I'll call you Mr. Westcott. I'm not in an office now. I'm interested in you, I'm frank to say it. You look like a girl I've never seen before, with your gold hair, and your dark eyes, they're sort of gold, too, at times, aren't they?"

"Nancy knew she'd have to fib a little.

"I met him through some friends. Please turn to page 15, column 2."

$500,000 FOR 'DRY' DRIVE

Washington, August 1 (INS)—The Anti-Saloon League of America, while supporting Herbert Hoover for the presidency, will wage its campaign entirely along the Prohibition party, Gen. Supt. McBride said he returned today from a survey of five states.

The dry league is raising its own campaign fund—with a maximum of $500,000 authorized—and will support proved dry for Congress regardless of party affiliations. McBride said adding that if he or any of the church vote is cast, Hoover will be elected.

"On the other hand," he said, "it is fully realized that if the day in the church is to be saved, the aggressive war interests will be able to place death in the hands of the church."

McLellan said he found Dr. House in Ohio, Michigan, Pennsylvania, New York and West Virginia. He predicted a "very dry" Congress will be elected.

Tunney Retires
Leaves Ring Heritage
Gene Boosted Game

Sharkey in Again
Next Heavy Champ
Jack Will Be Popular

By NICK FLATLEY

TUNNEY DID MORE FOR RING THAN ANY CHAMP

GENE TUNNEY, retiring undefeated, leaves a splendid heritage to the boxing game. Gene brought the pastime to the attention of hundreds of thousands of Americans who previously believed it to be the most horrible and vulgar of all human practices.

The enemies of boxing had to pay attention when Gene came along. Here was a young man with a copy book character. He didn't scamper up and down the aisle ways. He wasn't a thing and a brute. He didn't spend his off hours, smacking policemen, or luring fair but foolish young ladies to roadhouses, and things like that.

He didn't take his purses and throw parties for the choruses of musical shows, as fighters were supposed to do, but, if the truth be known, very seldom did. He was a clean-living, high-minded young man, and when he stepped into the picture, the deplores just had to take notice.

They saw that the individual was at least as good as his advance notices. He mingled with the right sort of people, and led the right sort of existence. Even when training, his mind turned toward the higher things. He really liked to study, and to read.

It was voted generally that any game which had this kind of a man at the head couldn't be as bad as it was pictured. Tunney made friends out of the enemies of boxing. And he certainly put the quietus on the fanatics, whose arguments were all shot by his personality and character.

Gene Tunney became ring famous three years ago. Over that stretch he has made more than a million, won the heavy-weight crown and has put the sport on the highest level of its history. No battler, in all the annals, ever has done nearly as much.

Tunney was unpopular as a champion. He was not a killer and clatter, the kind of a champion the mob admires. But in his retirement, he is a public idol. Make no mistake about that. He showed by the manner of his fighting while Heenev was being shellacked that he is a real champion, a warrior with as much guts as anybody ever brought into the game.

He proves now, by retiring when he could have carried on for three or four more successful and golden years, that he was sincere when he announced that he didn't like the business. Honesty and conviction stuck out all over his statement. He will not come back. He marches out of the picture undefeated, but the effects of his savior to the throne will be felt in the game for many a long year.

Dempsey brought the crowds and the money. Tunney introduced the class. The pair of them established a great business on a solid foundation. Not even the efforts of the unscrupulous dollar chasers will undo their work for quite some time.

GENE RETIRED MADE ALL THE HEAVYWEIGHT MANAGERS THINK THAT CHRISTMAS HAD ARRIVED IN MID-JUNE.

An opponent of Gene, if he hammered and took, has a chance right away to get plenty of work.

GENE PROBABLY WILL GET MARRIED SHORTLY AND HIS COVERT THAT HE IS A MERE NOVICE IN THE FIGHTING GAME.

OPPORTUNITY PAGES JACK SHARKEY AGAIN

UP JACK SHARKEY of Newton, late of the navy, has opportunity knocking at his door once more to carry on his career as a diamond prize, so to speak. Young Mr. Sharkey attacks out over the rest of the heavyweight like a Rinkin Hill monument in a conversation of ducks.

Young Mr. Sharkey is a mighty good fighter, when he feels like fighting. He has real class and science, and packs a brutal punch. He was the one youth in the land who figured to have any chance with the clever Tunney ever retired. Jack made a lot of money in the last two years and let himself off with a hit.

He should have been in there with Gene, as everybody knows. He beat Heenev, although the verdict was a draw, and he might have landed the division in the Rinkin scrap. For both of these reasons, as well as the previous one with Dempsey, Sharkey was not in the best condition.

Soft fortunes had softened him. But he learned a lesson. He saw Tunney get his million in Chicago, and murder Heenev in New York, because time was absolutely fit for anything that might happen.

Jack in training these days, and the one contender who can live up to the standards set by Tunney, Sharkey does not care for his class battles. He is wrapped up in his family. He has invested his money wisely, in real estate. He is building himself a fine new home in Newton at this writing.

He can measure up to all the copy book maxims, take Persian rugs or antique furniture with anybody, and at the same time be the rough, tough fighting kind of a guy the boys like in the ring.

Sharkey looks like the magnet Tex Rickard must use to bring back the million dollar gate.

Wonder if the retiring Bill Tilden has his million?

Nobody on our Olympic team looks like a million dollars.

Still, we shouldn't waste any time now.

DEMPSEY MAY FIGHT AGAIN

Drawing Power of Ex-Champion Proven at Mays-Schaff Bout

By GEORGE W. GRIMM

JACK DEMPSEY, most popular of all ring champions, is figuring on getting back the title that Gene Tunney took away from him.

Jack has announced that he will not fight again until he has been defeated. He has been defeated in the past, but he has never been defeated in a way that he can fit the man on a black, early head or a nose.

Babe Ruth is the "King of Swat" and Lou Gehrig is the "Sluggo" of the Yankees.

Lou was asked to smoke each of the four cigarettes, closing his eyes with his back to the cigarettes. He said: "Which one was best?" "Which one was best?"

Money Love

This Day in Our History
 On August 19, 1941, the U.S. Supreme Court by a vote of 65-14-1 ruled that states could not require attendance at the National Socialist Party's propaganda conference, sale of uniforms, or carrying of a copy of a book advocating racism.

PRACTICING MUSIC

THE DAILY DIZZY

By HOBAN

MEDBURY SAYS—

By JOHN P. MEDBURY, Maybe You're Wrong.

By CONSTANCE CAMERON
 "But neither John nor myself are the least bit musical, so it would be a waste of money to give little John piano lessons," a mother announced recently. I believe this an attitude which most uneducated parents take, and which is a mistaken one as to be proved by the fact that many of our eminent musicians and composers were children born to homes which knew little music. How much rather they might have gone to their chosen profession if they had received a musical sense and appreciation from infancy as open to conjecture, but the fact still remains that because neither parent was a musician did not stop their progress in this line, once they found proper means of getting their technical education and help in music. Handel and Schumann are names which occur to me in his connection and there are scores of others.
 If your home contains a piano and it is fortunate in this day and age that these instruments are within the means of the majority of families, I hope you will not keep it locked as I've seen in many homes because there is a young person about who is curious about it and likes to hear the sounds which result from his touch.

ing it. Even when your child is a wee baby, seat yourself before the piano with him on your lap and let him get acquainted with the keys and their sounds. Play simple things, such as "Twinkle, Twinkle, Little Star," for him while he is so seated. Teach him to love the harmony which flows from it at the proper touch. Three and four-year-olds always like to see themselves before this instrument, and, indeed, to play as they have seen grown-ups sometimes do. Encourage this, until, as sometimes happens, the child grows on the keys, at which moment he should be removed without further delay. Give him in this instance a drum, and tell him that if it is a lead note he desires, the drum is for the better instrument of the two, and that when he really wants to make beautiful, soft, pleasing sounds he may return to the piano. If you play the piano, you can make the understanding of time and rhythm easy for your youngster, by playing simple selections in which the beat is very pronounced, such as the old-fashioned waltzes, and leave the child clapping in a constant rhythm. This method as a musical beginning has been most successfully worked out by Dr. Franz Dornbach in his work with Ellington's "Piano" in his organization, a "Joy Orchestra" as it is called in a fascinating account in a current magazine. The children in this orchestra are given such instruments as triangles, tam-tams, cymbals and drums, and learn to hit them on the proper beat. This seems to me to be a perfect plan for instilling a sense of time, and a plan which can be used on a scale as wide as the imagination. If your child has begun to take

ONCE-OVERS

By J. J. MUNDY

ARE you getting tired of your old home town?
 Do you want to get out where the lights are brighter and more numerous?
 How do you think you would fare where competition is keen and ability shows the ordinary is required? What can you do in an exceptional way?
 Are you far above the average in your particular line?
 If not, better stay where you are. Out in the busy, bustling world, there is little demand for the person of ordinary talent.
 Play where you are known and where there are not so many others who are so much better.

 On the other hand, if you are unusually gifted, and you cannot find the opportunities you need to develop your gifts, you should go where the chances are better.
 Then when you are established, with ability beyond the ordinary and in places where your gifts are essential, don't expect to command immediate recognition, with no enlightenment.
 First secure opportunity to display your wares and it may take you some little time to reach the discerning eye and ear, at that.
